

Cross Sectional Assessment

Use this diagram to identify and map out the different factors that maintain the problem. Understanding the links between thoughts, behaviours, emotions and physical feelings can help you to change the way the problem is maintained.

